IV. BACKGROUND FACTS

Plaintiff's Original Work

71. In 1980, Byron wrote the musical lyrics and created the musical composition for the Copyrighted Work that is the subject of the infringement, as alleged herein.

72. In 1981, Byron was doing business under his music publishing company Inner Sanctum.

73. On or about June of 1981, Inner Sanctum c/o David Byron as claimant filed a copyright registration for the Copyrighted Work.

74. On or about November 1, 1982, Byron issued a non-exclusive license for the mechanical reproduction of the Copyrighted Work to Chrysalis Records, Inc., for a recording embodying the performance of the Copyrighted Work by the popular, Grammy Award Winning musical artist Pat Benatar ("Benatar").

75. On or about November 1981, Chrysalis released the Benatar album entitled "Get Nervous" which contained her version of the Copyrighted Work ("Benatar Version").

76. Notwithstanding this license, Plaintiff retained all rights, title and interest to the Copyrighted Work, including the musical composition embodied in the Benatar Version.

77. The Benatar Version of the Copyrighted Work was the first song on the Get Nervous album which was released in November 1982.

78. Upon information and belief, the Benatar Version of the Copyrighted Work was released on October 16, 1982 and was a major success, known in the music industry as a "smash hit record."

79. The Benatar Version of the Copyrighted Work was listed for 19 weeks on the Billboard Magazine charts and peaked at #13 on the Billboard Magazine Pop music charts, and #3 on the Billboard Magazine album rock charts.

80. In 1982, Pat Benatar was awarded a Grammy Award issued by The National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences ("NARAS") for Best Rock Vocal Performance by a Female for the Benatar Version of the Copyrighted Work.

81. Upon information and belief, the Benatar Version of the Copyrighted Work continues today to be sold as a recording, broadcast on the radio and other channels of performance, and performed in concert at various venues by Pat Benatar and others.

82. The worldwide success of the Benatar Version of the Copyrighted Work as a musical composition is irrefutable.

83. On or about February 2008, Plaintiff issued a synchronization license for the Copyrighted Work to the producers of a movie entitled "Picture This" featuring Ashley Tisdale, a popular actress of the successful "High School Musical" movies.

84. The Copyrighted Work is the prominent musical composition in "Picture This."

Defendant's Infringing Conduct

85. The Copyrighted Work features a qualitatively important musical phrase (i.e., the "hook") that consists of an original melody in the chorus of the Copyrighted Work which is also used as the introduction. The "hook" is usually the most identifiable phrase in a popular song and is typically a popular song's single most important element and is often associated with the song's title.

86. The Infringing Song is substantially similar to the Copyrighted Work due to Defendants' improper use and taking of Plaintiff's "hook," as well as other important elements of the Copyrighted Work.

87. The Infringing Song features a chorus with the substantially similar melody as the chorus of the Copyrighted Work, which is also used as the introduction of the Benatar Version of the Copyrighted Work (sung by Pat Benatar) and the introduction of the Infringing Song (performed instrumentally by Defendants Rascal Flatts).

88. The phrasing and musicality of the hook in both the Copyrighted Work and the Infringing Song are nearly identical.

89. The core melodic theme in the Copyrighted Work is found repeatedly throughout the Copyrighted Work and the Infringing Song.

90. The substantial similarity of the qualitative portions of both the Copyrighted Work and the Infringing Song extend to the main content of both works, including their verse sections and other musical elements.

91. Defendants had actual or constructive knowledge of the Copyrighted Work due to the huge worldwide success and popularity of the Copyrighted Work as performed and released in the Benatar Version of the Copyrighted Work by its voluminous sales, continuous broadcasting by radio airplay and otherwise, and critical acclaim by members of the music industry.

92. In or about September 2007, Defendants released the album by Rascal Flatts entitled “Still Feels Good,” which was either written, recorded, produced, published, distributed and/or sold by one or more of the Defendants and contains the Infringing Song as the seventh track on the CD.

93. Upon information and belief, the “Still Feels Good” album is a major success, as determined by its significant sales achieving “platinum” status, which is defined in the music industry as sales of over 1,000,000 copies.

94. Upon information and belief, the Infringing Song is a very popular recording among the fans of Rascal Flatts.

95. Upon information and belief, the Infringing Song is an important factor in the success of the Rascal Flatts album “Still Feels Good.”

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
COPYRIGHT INFRINGEMENT
(17 U.S.C. §106 and §501)
(Against All Defendants)

96. Plaintiff hereby realleges, as it fully set forth, each of the allegations contained in the foregoing paragraphs 1-95.

97. Plaintiff Byron's Copyrighted Work constitutes an authentic and original work and is copyrightable subject matter pursuant to the Copyright Act, which has been duly registered by Byron with the United States Copyright Office, and published by Byron in strict conformity with the Copyright Act, and all laws governing copyrights.

98. As the copyright owner of the Copyrighted Work, Plaintiff Byron enjoys the exclusive right to (1) reproduce the Copyrighted Work; (2) prepare derivative works based upon the Copyrighted Work; (3) distribute copies of the Copyrighted Work; and (4) display or broadcast or perform the Copyrighted Work. See. 17 U.S.C. § 106.

99. Upon information and belief, beginning on an unknown date and continuing through present, Defendants, with actual or constructive knowledge of Plaintiff Byron's ownership of the Copyrighted Work, and with actual or constructive knowledge of Byron's duly registered copyright of the Copyrighted Work, have infringed upon or, at the very least, shown that their actions constitute a willful, conscious and reckless disregard for Byron's copyrights by the unauthorized writing, recording, producing, releasing, publishing, performing, broadcasting, copying, manufacturing, distribution and selling of Defendant Rascal Flatts' Still Feels Good album, which contains the Infringing Song, and directly competes with Plaintiff's original Copyrighted Work.

100. Upon information and belief, Defendants had access to the Benatar Version of the Copyrighted Work prior to the writing, recording, producing, releasing, publishing, performing, broadcasting, copying, manufacturing, distribution and selling of the Infringing Song.

101. Based upon the success of and Defendants' access to the Benatar Version of the Copyrighted Work, as well as the substantial similarity between the Copyrighted Work and the Infringing Song, Defendants are willful infringers of Plaintiff's Copyrighted Work.

102. The Infringing Song is substantially similar to Plaintiff's original Copyrighted Work and infringes the copyright thereof, pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 501.

103. As set forth in the aforementioned facts, the conclusion is inescapable that Defendants had access to and have substantially copied the Copyrighted Work and infringed upon Plaintiff's copyright registration in violation of the Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 101, et. seq., for which Defendants are jointly and severally liable.

104. Defendants are jointly and severally responsible for the writing, recording, producing, releasing, publishing, performing, broadcasting, copying, manufacturing, distribution and selling of the Infringing Song and are in violation of Plaintiff's exclusive rights under the Copyright Act.

105. As a result of Defendants' unlawful, deliberate, willful and reckless conduct as set forth above, Plaintiff Byron has sustained and will continue to sustain damages.

106. Defendants' infringement has caused and will continue to cause irreparable harm to Plaintiff unless Defendants are restrained by this Court.

107. Plaintiff is entitled to recover from Defendants the damages sustained and that he will continue to sustain, as well as, any gains, profits, and advantages obtained, and enjoyed by Defendants as a result of their willful acts of infringing upon the Plaintiff's rights under the Copyright Act, as alleged above.

108. At the present, the amount of such actual damages, gains, profits, and advantages cannot be fully determined without discovery and therefore must be established according to proof at trial.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Byron demands that judgment be entered against Defendants and the Court finds as follows:

- (a) That Defendants' acts of writing, recording, producing, releasing, publishing, performing, broadcasting, copying, manufacturing, distribution and selling the Infringing Song constitute unlawful, deliberate, intentional, willful acts as well as a conscious and reckless disregard for the Plaintiff's rights under the Copyright Act, and therefore constitute an infringement of all laws governing copyrights;
- (b) That Defendants be ordered to provide an accounting on all gains, profits, benefits and advantages derived by all Defendants from their willful copyright infringement of Plaintiff's original Copyrighted Work, and that Defendants be ordered to pay to Plaintiff all actual damages or statutory damages, at Plaintiff's election, attributable to Defendants' copyright infringement of Plaintiff's Copyrighted Work; 17 U.S.C. § 504,
- (c) That Defendants together with their officers, agents, servants, employees and attorneys and all persons in active concert or participation, be preliminarily and permanently enjoined from any further acts of copyright infringement upon the Plaintiff's Copyrighted Work, including the permanent cessation of the performance, sale and distribution of Defendants' Infringing Song; 17 U.S.C. § 502,

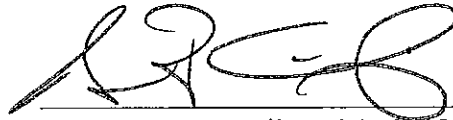

- (d) That Defendants be ordered to remove all recordings containing the Infringing Song from their catalogs; to stop distributing catalogs that depict or otherwise offer for sale recordings containing the Infringing Song; to delete any reference to recordings containing the Infringing Song from price lists, websites and all other marketing and sales material; and to advise customers that recordings containing the Infringing Song are no longer available or in the alternative to order the complete destruction of Defendants' recordings containing the Infringing Song; 17 U.S.C. § 503,
- (e) That Defendants be required to pay Plaintiff a reasonable royalty for each and every sale of the recordings containing the Infringing Song and that Defendants be ordered to provide appropriate credit to Plaintiff on all recordings and printings and/or publications of the Infringing Song and that key elements of the Infringing Song are derived from Plaintiff's original Copyrighted Work;
- (f) That Defendants be required to pay Plaintiff's costs, and reasonable attorneys fees in connection with this action; 17 U.S.C. § 505,
- (g) That final judgment be entered in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendants;
- (h) Grant Plaintiff such other and further relief as this Honorable Court deems fair and just.
